I did not state this but the default keys are no longer supported and the game can break when starting with the wrong key bindings. So, you can ask me to re-make the setup and I will do it for free of charge. Description: Bifrost 1.2b Private Build Setup Free Because of errors in the new Command Blocks, you must have the setup file from the 1.1.1.7 (Forum Post) which is still posted here. Please know that this is for a single Private Build ONLY. I can not change the command blocks or update any of my posts. Extra quality (no Update) Caution! Before this setup file will work, you must replace the old Server.rul lines with the new ones below. This is to prevent the server from starting with the old settings. In addition, you can copy the old client.rul file and place it on your server. I am not responsible for any loss of data from installing this build. There is also a video of how this is done. For more updates on the new server.rul file and the required changes to your old server.rul, you can click the button below. Advertise in this thread I currently will not do any work on any issues relating to any patch or any build other than the one I created. For that, you can send me a PM or Email. This section is for topics that do not belong in this thread.There are, at present, several ways to add a custom ribbon (or tab) to Windows Explorer. You can make a new.xml file and move it into the Documents\Windows\explorer subfolder, add the XML and then associate it with Explorer. This is not always easy to achieve. In some cases the file is read-only, or you might have no access to a folder containing the subfolder where your ribbon resides. The Registry can be used to add a ribbon to Explorer. You can select the registry key to add a custom ribbon by going to Start -> right click on Computer and select Properties. Then navigate to the "Advanced" tab and then press the "Browse…" button. From there you can select the registry key you wish to access. So, let's say you are in the My Computer key. Then press the right arrow button on the keyboard to go to the "Rec 82157476af
